

ABSTRACT

A gas turbine combustion chamber comprises a manhole as access to a combustion chamber interior, which may be sealed with a manhole cover. The manhole comprises an inner cooling chamber and may thus take particularly high thermal loads.